R007019-030722	3/7/2022	Maranda Kles	mkles@aciflorida.com	Good afternoon Ms. Taylor. My firm has conducted a number of archaeological surveys for the City as part of the building permit process. There are a number of archaeological sites in the North Port area some of which were mapped in the 1970s before the mapping technology was very good, i.e. they guessed where they were and drew it on a map! In doing these surveys we have realized that the location of some of these sites may be recorded in correctly. I have attached a figure below showing the blue location the sites as they are recorded and the red locations where we have tested and pinkish locations where we have found evidence of these sites. But as you can see from my map we don't have all the info. The City of North Port has an excellent ordinance that not only allows for development, but also a better understanding of the archaeological past and protection of key sites when warranted. There are several other archaeological firms that have conducted surveys in this area, but since very few of these surveys are ever filed at the State in the Florida Master Site File (including our own), I don't have a way to see those reports and their results. Some have been shared with me by Sarasota County and some of the other firms (I am currently working to add that info to my map), but I am sure there are more out there. Ultimately, I hope to combine results to not only help us when we are doing archaeological surveys but to also help the City in tracking the progress and understanding the sites, in whatever way helps them best. I understand the archaeological reports are part of the building permit process, but I believe the reports are exempt from public records due to the sensitive nature of the information. Is there some way that we could obtain copies of the reports though, so we can add the data to ours and in turn provide some updated information to the City? I am glad to send someone to physically search and copy things or whatever method you think might be best. I know this is an unusual request and I would be happy to discuss it so I can better understand how I can make the request without it being too onerous to you or your staff. Thank you for your time and consideration on this.	3/10/2022	Full Release

R006316-100421	10/4/2021	Cheryl Cook	citymatters58@gmail.com	Thankyou for your quick response. Unfortunately, I don't see the link that you refer to where I can find policies. In the same vein, recently I asked City Attorney Slayton why electeds were shouting out from the dais during public meetings names and personal information of citizens who had not participated in or otherwise identified themselves during these public meetings. Ms. Slayton was forthright enough to respond that "it is a longstanding 'policy'" to which I responded that it was surely not a policy when I was in office, which ended in November 2016. Can you either provide me with the policy Ms. Slayton referred to or, better yet, refer me to where I can find ALL policies, written and unwritten, of the city, and include the history of the policy? Thank you again for your diligence.	10/4/2021	Full Release

You included a very small portion of an email you received from me wherein I included an attachment of a public records request of mine that was over a year old at that time and had still not been produced. In your part of the agenda item, you did not identify that it was I who supplied the dated public records request that had still not been produced but, again, you utilized a portion of my email to you during discussion of Miss Debbie's agenda item. I am requesting a copy of the email with the attachment I sent to you as well as any response to me or anyone else by you. Thank you	11/19/2021	Full Release

I was told April/May of 2021 that there wasn't time to get anything to referendum for 2022? Clearly, I misunderstood or changes have occurred since that time. Comm Luke mentioned she recently had an mail exchange with CA Slayton clarifying the timelines of referendum items. I am interested in the referendum timelines and process. With that said, can you please add an agenda item to an upcoming CRAB meeting to provide the members an overview to clarify our understanding of what those timelines are. If possible, provide in written form so that we are all aware of the expectations and have for our future reference. Can you also please provide me a copy via email of the exchange between Ms Luke and Ms Slayton as it pertains to the Referendum timelines. I, sec. 24 of the Florida Constitution. This request is for public records in the possession of the City of North Port ("the Agency"), its employees, elected or appointed officials, attorneys, lobbyists, agents, contractors or representatives, regardless of the location of those records. We understand that a citizen is not required to make a written request to obtain public records under the Act, but we want to be clear what we are seeking from you. This written request satisfies the five-day notice provision contained in section 119.12(1)(b). We will not provide any additional notice of your statutory obligation to timely furnish responsive records. Accordingly, we hereby request production of any emails and text messages made, sent or received in connection with the transaction of official business or the rendition of services on behalf of the Agency, including by any employee, elected or appointed official, attorney, lobbyist, agent, contractor, or representative of the Agency that relate to: 1. This request for records further includes any responsive records sent or received by the Agency via any private, nongovernmental account as well as those records maintained, stored or archived in the cloud, on a shared drive, on the internet, via any electronic portal, via social media accounts, or any other electronic system or device such as a cell phone, tablet, flash drive, computer or server that is capable of sending, receiving or storing digital information. This request is directed to the Agency, and any individual or entity, including any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity, employee, elected or appointed official, attorney, lobbyist, agent, contractor, or representative acting on behalf of the Agency. See section 119.011(2), Fla. Stat. R007631-051122	5/11/2022	Stephanie Gibson	citywatchnorthportfl@outlook.com	Good morning, At the Commissioner Retreat held on April 20th in the Chambers, we had citizens that attended some portion of such. While it was unpublished and the City position being that it was non-public it seems incredulous that some were allowed in and noone seemed to take issue with such. With that in mind, I would like to know how the citizen was informed about the meeting and I am seeking the public records of their specific invite. This may include email, phone call and/or text message to the attendee whose name is Justin Cody Willis. I believe this special invite would have originated from the Mayor or Vice Mayor devices. Can I please substitute the word "practice" for "policy" throughout the request. Where can I find all practices instead of policies as mentioned in the below email. Thank you Source: PUBLIC RECORDS REQUEST of October 04, 2021., Reference # R006316-100421 "Thankyou for your quick response. Unfortunately, I don't see the link that you refer to where I can find policies. In the same vein, recently I asked City Attorney Slayton why electeds were shouting out from the dais during public meetings names and personal information of citizens who had not participated in or otherwise identified themselves during these public meetings. Ms. Slayton was forthright enough to respond that "it is a longstanding 'policy'" to which I responded that it was surely not a policy when I was in office, which ended in November 2016. Can you either provide me with the (practice) Ms. Slayton referred to or, better yet, refer me to where I can find ALL (practices), written and unwritten, of the city, and include the history of the (practice)? Thank you again for your diligence."	1/12/2022	No Records Exist

R007493-042522	4/25/2022		federallawsuit4freesp eech@gmail.com	thi is not nazi germany Court rules against UCF in speech case Jim Saunders News Service of Florida TALLAHASSEE – Amid national battles about speech on college campuses, a federal appeals court Thursday ruled that a University of Central Florida policy targeting 'discriminatory harassment' likely violates the First Amendment. A three-judge panel of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overturned a district judge's rejection of a preliminary injunction against the discriminatory-harassment policy and ordered the lower court to also consider the constitutionality of another UCF policy. The 38-page opinion backed arguments by the group Speech First, which has represented students at universities in various parts of the country. Judge Kevin Newsom wrote that the UCF policy 'objectively chills speech because its operation would cause a reasonable student to fear expressing potentially unpopular beliefs.' 'Given the discriminatory-harassment policy's astonishing breadth – and slipperiness – we think it clear that a reasonable student could fear that his speech would get him crossways with the university, and that he'd be better off just keeping his mouth shut,' wrote Newsom, who was joined by Judges Stanley Marcus and Richard Story. Marcus wrote a concurring opinion that pointed to 'grave peril posed by a policy that effectively polices adherence to intellectual dogma.' 'History provides us with ample warning of those times and places when colleges and universities have stopped pursuing truth and have instead turned themselves into cathedrals for the worship of certain dogma,' Marcus wrote. 'By depriving itself of academic institutions that pursue truth over any other concern, a society risks falling into the abyss of ignorance.' The UCF policy prohibits discriminatory harassment that could occur in a number of ways. Newsom's opinion said the policy defines discriminatory harassment, in part, as consisting of 'verbal, physical, electronic or other conduct based upon an individual's race, color, ethnicity, national origin, religion, non-religion, age, genetic information, sex (including pregnancy and parental status, gender identity or expression, or sexual orientation), marital status, physical or mental disability (including learning disabilities, intellectual disabilities, and past or present history of mental illness), political affiliations' and veterans' status. Newsom wrote that it applies 'to any conduct that, for instance, 'unreasonably . . . alters' another student's 'participation in a university program or activity.'" In a brief filed in October, UCF attorneys wrote that the university 'adheres to its obligations to prohibit discriminatory harassing speech so that all individuals can be educated and work in an environment that is free from such discriminatory harassing speech that falls beyond the line of protected speech.' 'When it comes to speech-based harassment, the Supreme Court has been clear: The First Amendment protects speech up to a well-defined line, but discriminatory harassing speech on the basis of a protected trait or characteristic falls beyond that line as one of the recognized categories of 'unprotected' speech,' the brief said. Speech First filed the lawsuit last year challenging the discriminatory-harassment policy and another policy described by Newsom as a 'bias-related incidents' policy. Senior U.S. District Judge Gregory Presnell rejected Speech First's arguments on the discriminatory-harassment policy and ruled the group did not have legal standing to challenge the bias-related incidents policy. Speech First took the case to the Atlanta-based appeals court. Thursday's opinion said the district court 'abused its discretion in refusing to preliminarily enjoin the discriminatory-harassment policy.' It also said Speech First had stand	4/25/2022	Not Public Records Request
